Ohio Department of Commerce

Ohio Division of Real Estate & Professional Licensing

Daphne Hawk

The Ohio Division of Real Estate and Professional Licensing is a part of the Ohio Department of Commerce; the Division is the official licensing agency for all the real estate licensees in Ohio. The Division is staffed by numerous professionals who carry out the decisions of the Ohio Real Estate Commission.

Staff processes initial applications and renewals of more than 45,000 real estate licensees annually, monitor the quality of continuing education courses and investigate complaints filed regarding the conduct of licensees.

Ohio Real Estate Commission

The Ohio Real Estate Commission is a five-member group, appointed by the Governor that meets once a month in the Division offices. Four of the five must be active brokers. Commissioners set licensing requirements, make rules concerning licensees, handle complaints about violations of state laws and regulations and suspend and revoke licenses. Commissioners also certify courses for continuing education credit and oversee the Recovery Fund.

Ohio Real Estate Appraiser Board

The Ohio Real Estate Appraiser Board functions like the Ohio Real Estate Commission. The Board is the last stop for disputes over licenses and over licensees' actions. It can choose to renew licenses for appraisers who miss renewal deadlines; it can revoke or suspend licenses when it determines appraisers violated appraisal laws.

The Board is a Governor-appointed panel with rule making authority over the group it regulates--the appraisers. The state Legislature enacts laws concerning appraisers, such as how many hours the state requires for licensing and certification.

Board members set specific policies to carry out those laws.
