The Ohio Association of REALTORS reports the number of single-family homes and condominiums put under agreement in November 2016 reached a best-ever level for the month, increasing 3.5 percent from the mark set during the month a year ago.

Ohio's November Pending Home Sales Index of 178.8, a forward-looking indicator based on contract signings, increased 3.5 percent from November 2015 (172.7). Activity in November rose 4.5 percent from the level of agreements reached in October 2016 (171.1).

"The Ohio housing marketplace is continuing to show remarkable strength, as the number of homes put under contract in November reached an all-time high for the month and marks our 31st consecutive month of year-over-year gains," said OAR President Sara Calo. "The real estate profession remains hopeful the positive momentum that's been established across the Ohio market will continue moving forward."

Compared to 2008, a historically healthy market that marked the end of five consecutive record years for existing home sales and the onset of the recession, November's Index score of 178.8 marks a 78.8 percent increase.

A pending sale or a sale "under agreement" is when the buyer and seller agree on terms of the sale of a home and have a signed purchase and sale agreement, but have yet to close and be recorded as such. Refer to the following report to view the pending home sales index and methods.

OAR, the largest professional trade association in the state with more than 30,000 members, is the only organization that compiles this state wide information from selected Multiple Listing Services each month. The tracking of "pending sales" provides reliable information about where the market is heading in coming months.

The Pending Home Sales Index (PHSI) provides advanced information on future home-sales activity. Specifically, pending home sales become existing-home sales one-to-two months later so the PHSI can be used to predict actual home sales activity. The index is based on a sampling of Multiple Listing Service pending sales activity in Ohio, typically representing slightly above or slightly below 68 percent of transactions for existing-home sales. The index is seasonally adjusted to smooth out fluctuations that typically exist from month to month. To create the index, current pending home sales are compared to pending home sales in 2008. 2008 is used as a base year because it marks the end of five consecutive record years for existing home sales and the onset of the recession. 2008 home sales activity coincides with a level that is historically healthy. A PHSI score of 100 is equal to the average level of contract activity during 2008.*
