Tax Write-offs for the Self-Employed

January 24, 2019
11:30 am – 1:00 pm

Any tax write-off you're allowed to take can result in significant reductions to your state, federal, and social security tax liabilities. This course will teach you the ins-and-outs of the Internal Revenue Service system and powerful, money-saving tax information. Topics to be covered include tax deductions for self-employed individuals, IRC 105 medical reimbursement plan, record keeping requirements, business entities and expenses, and more.

This program will cover four important issues that impact the business of real estate that were included in the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017. As 2018 comes to a close, it is imperative that real estate professionals understand these tax law changes and are prepared to handle them to maximize opportunities and limit risk exposure.

Instructor: Christopher Bird, CFP

Chris Bird has been in the financial business for over 30 years. He started his career with a degree in Accounting and a minor in Business Administration. He holds the Certified Financial Planner designation (CFP).

Chris was a Senior IRS agent for 16 years. He began conducting courses after leaving the IRS and started his own company, Chris Bird Seminars.

Chris has conducted over 125 seminars a year on accounting, financial planning, wealth building, residential rental property ownership, and tax strategies for the real estate and financial industries nationwide. He has presented his widely acclaimed courses multiple times at NAR conventions and most recently presented at Howard Brinton's StarPower™ Conference in Orlando, FL.

Chris was an adjunct instructor at the University of Illinois in tax law for 20 years. He is a Senior CRS Instructor and a Senior Faculty Instructor for the Realtors Land Institute. He currently holds his real estate license in St. Cloud, Minnesota.
